This artwork was created as a part of the Nomad Art project Secret World, that took place on the Howard sand plains in 2015.

The artists are Sarah Pirrie, Jasmine Jan, Karen Mills, Jacqueline Gribbin and Winsome Jobling.

The Howard sand plains are a major feature of the Darwin hinterland region. They host a number of unique and threatened plant and animal species including rare carnivorous plants (Utricularia species) and the Howard River Toadlet.

As part of the workshop the artists placed 36 sheets of 30 x 42 cm Khadi cotton rag paper in a grid and applied mud, clay, inks and binder onto the surface. Plants such as Drosera petiolaris, Dapsalanthus spathaceus and Utricularia Odorata were collected and pressed into the work.

The artists then divided the sheets into groups to work individually in their studios.

Later the work was rearranged in the gallery as an installation.
